Norway Municipal Court.

May 14, State vs. Augustus H. Wallace, assault; found guilty. Fined $1 and costs, $10.32. Paid and discharged. State vs. Blanche Wallace, assault; found guilty. Sentences suspended. Josiah W. Richardson, complainant. This fracas occurred at one of Mrs. I. Frost's tenements on Saturday evening, causing much excitement in the neighborhood.

State vs. Albert G. Eames and Chas. D. Bean of Newry was tried before Judge Jones last Tuesday afternoon. It was alleged that the respondents on March 6, while breaking roads, "cruelly beat, wounded, mutilated and bruised a horse," which afterwards died.

The State's witnesses were Benjamin Aldrich, Lewis Eames, Wm. Gorman and David Fleet, who lived at Newry and Riley Plantation. After hearing their testimony, Elery C. Park, council for the respondents, asked that the case be dismissed for want of sufficient evidence to hold his clients. The judge granted his request.

The case evidently grew out of misrepresentation or misunderstanding of the complainants. The horse was owned by Albert G. Eames of Newry, who is chairman of the board of selectmen of the town, and was valued from $150 to $200. Mr. Bean is road commissioner and on March 6th the horse got into the snow and it seemed from the State's testimony some whipping with a whip was done but not to the extent alleged by the complainants, and the horse died in David Fleet's barn some hours afterwards.

The story of the alleged cruelty got to Eben N. Perry, Portland, State Agent for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and he forwarded the story to Chas. P. Boobier of Norway, the local agent. When asked for a warrant Judge Jones refused to grant it on the evidence submitted to him and requested officer Boobier to go and investigate and if the allegations were correct he would issue a warrant. The investigation was made by the officer and the warrant issued resulting as stated above.

Downward Course

Fast Being Realized by Norway People.

A little backache at first.
Daily increasing till the back is lame and weak.

Urinary disorders quickly follow;
Diabetes and finally Bright's disease.

This is the downward course of kidney ills.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of a South Paris citizen.

John O. Ripley, living on Oxford St., South Paris, Me., says:—"I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and take great pleasure in giving them my recommendation. I was feeling quite miserable and had been suffering for some months from dull, pain through the small of my back and across my loins. My kidneys were not acting in a normal manner and the secretions were very unnatural in appearance. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I went to F. A. Shurtleff A Co's drug store, and procured a box. I used them in accordance with the directions, the pains disappeared and my kidneys ceased to trouble me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

To the first solver I will mail the May number of Good Literature; to the 10th, five colored post cards; and to the 20th, a book entitled "Ten Years a Police Court Judge."

The answer to the enigma in the Advertiser of April 2nd is: "Through winter's moss and dry dead leaves, the bladed grass revives and lives."

The correct solution was sent by Florence B. Garner, Kezar Falls, and Mrs. A. C. Brown, Denmark. Miss Garner won the magazine, and it was mailed to her address as soon as it came from the press.

OTISFIELD.

James Knight.

It was a sad and sympathetic group that met at the cemetery on the Hill on the afternoon of Saturday, April 17th, to witness and assist in the burial of James Knight, who died in Phoenix, Arizona, April 9th, of tuberculosis.

He left his home in Worcester early in November and went West, hoping to regain his health which for some time had been failing. He made a stop in Oregon, then on to Washington, then to Los Angeles but none of these places seemed best for him to make a long stay.

He then went to Arizona, where he found a climate at once so salubrious and agreeable that he soon found he was feeling better. He very soon began to gain in strength and continued to improve for some months, even felt encouraged to think he would be able to return home and resume business in a few months, when on an unlucky day he took a violent cold which caused hemorrhage; a second one a few days later terminated fatally.

A telegram was received by his wife in Worcester, April 6th, to the effect that "if she would see her husband alive she must come at once." In three hours she was on her way, a journey of four days and nights, reaching her destination on Saturday, the 10th, only to find he had died the night before.

Wear and worn with grief and anxiety added to the long and tedious journey, she remained until Sunday afternoon to complete the needed arrangements for her return and started on her sad journey home, where she arrived Thursday night.

Friday afternoon a funeral service was held at the home, 75 Eastern avenue. On Saturday the remains, accompanied by a brother, C. F. Hancock, of Melrose, Mass., his wife and her sister, Mrs. Deane, were brought to Otisfield and deposited in the Knight lot near his old home which he left some twenty years ago.

James W. Knight was born in Otisfield Aug. 18th, 1855, the son of Mark and Susan (Hancock) Knight. He had been on the Worcester police nearly six years, was a brave and faithful officer, was much liked and popular among his fellow officers, as was shown by the beautiful floral emblems which came from the "Worcester Police," and other friends.

He was also a member of the Masonic lodge of Bolster's Mills, which organization he likewise furnished a very fine floral design bearing the insignia of their order. The many gifts of flowers were elegant and profuse. The mound was apparently a solid mass of flowers.

It was dusky eve when those who had the burial in charge finished their work and left their friend and brother where "He sleeps beneath his Native earth And near the spot that gave him birth."

Bear Mountain Grange.

Bear Mountain Grange at its last meeting, May 1st, devoted the evening to interesting musical and literary entertainment. The music was furnished by the choir of the Grange and Mrs. Ida Riggs and Frank Shaw gave appropriate readings. Mrs. Laura Shaw filled the Lecturer's chair in absence of Lecturer L. E. McIntire, and other chairs were filled by prominent officials.

The principal exercise of the program was a discussion of the question: What are the best vegetables for the farmer's garden? Much interest in the subject was manifested and of about 50 Patrons present a large number participated in the discussion. One brother among the first to speak, said he thought a farmer's garden should have growing in it all varieties of vegetables known to the modern horticulturist, or words to that effect. No dissent from this opinion was expressed.

The general thought seems to be that, as one or more of the speakers said, "there's lots of good living comes from the garden." While certain speakers confessed to a distaste for the growing of small plants and the back ache and "fussing," it was by unanimous consent agreed that the farmer's garden yields more valuable and agreeable food to the dinner table than any other part of the same amount of land. A good number of the sisters joined in the discussion and advocated the importance of the garden as an indispensable adjunct to the larger grass, grain, potato and corn fields.

At the conclusion of the garden talk it was announced that a formal reception was prepared to be tendered to the Worthy Master, Arthur L. Sanderson and his thrice worthy wife, nee Jennie B. Hamlin, whose marriage since April 7th, had remained conspicuously "unhindered and unsmoothed."

The receiving party were assisted by the parents of Mrs. Sanderson and her sister, Carrie and brother, Albert Hamlin. The ceremony was conducted by Brother Gravelle Ford, and consisted in a procession marching in front of the honored guests and extending greetings and such salutations as the occasion seemed to justify for—abem—m!

Who will say that's not exempted?

Then followed a treat of delicious ice cream and cake in No. 1 banquet hall. Brother and Sister Sanderson are most comfortably situated as lessees for three years of the farm of Bessie Hamlin near the top of Mill hill, the original farm of John Atherton.

Funeral of Mrs. Cora G. Brown.

The funeral of Mrs. Cora G. Brown, who died at her home in Mexico, April 29th, was from the house of Oscar Brown on Sunday, May 2d. She was the wife of Shirley R. Brown, son of Oscar Brown and daughter of Frank and Clement Kilgore of Auburn.

Mrs. Brown was greatly esteemed by wide circles of friends wherever she was known and abundant testimonial to this was evident in the profusion of beautiful floral offerings which surrounded the casket in the funeral apartment. A large cross and wreath accompanied by flowers and evergreen contributed by lady friends in Waterford and a gift of pink and roses from Keoka Chapter No. 12, of Waterford were prominent tributes of regard for the deceased wife and mother. Other floral offerings were as follows:

REO ROADSTER $1000
THE CAR THAT KEEPS ON GOING

And that's the very first thing to think of. Other things, too, but that comes first. No matter how stunning a car looks in the garage, it looks mighty different fifty miles from home with the engine out of order.

You know the Reo record—and what that means. Perfect score in every Glidden Tour it ever went into, and not only that, but perfect score and finishing in perfect condition—able to do the tour over again, as was proved by the Perfect Score Reo of the 1908 Tour being chosen to pilot the big four-and-six-cylinder runabouts running off the tie.

You also know, if you have kept your eyes open, "how" Reos in private use keep going on the road and keep out of the repair shops.

Other things, too—but get-ther-and-back ability comes first.

H. C. DAVY, Auburn, Me.

I purchased a REO touring car in 1906. Since then I have run it over twenty-five hundred miles without ever having had any serious trouble with it. In fact, I always came home on my own power; found it economical in the use of gasoline and consider it the best medium priced car that I know of. Have recently sold my 1904 model, after running it part of three seasons and have ordered a 1909 model.

FLOYD KINNAMAN, Fostoria, O.

My 1908 REO roadster has been driven in the neighborhood of 25,000 miles and has given absolutely the best of satisfaction. I keep the car up myself and have never had to take it to a repair shop to have anything done to it, although it has had a great many miles to travel. I believe I can take it out and trim any one of the cars in this vicinity over the roads for speed. If I should ever buy another car, it would most certainly be a REO.

S. D. SCOTT, Hope, N. D.

My REO Roadster which I purchased of you last August has given me entire satisfaction. I have had occasion to use it in making my district and have covered some no less than three times making a distance of 3700 miles and have not been put to one cent of expense for repairs with the exception of two punctures. In making my district I have encountered some very hilly country and my machine has no difficulty in climbing these hills on high speed. I have had several chances to trade the REO for different makes of machines but the REO is good enough for me. For a well built reliable machine that will stand all kinds of grief there is none in my opinion that can beat the REO.

A poultry writer states that small breeds will be satisfied for a roost with a smooth, round pole, but the large breeds, being heavy, especially on the breast, prefer to roost where they may have a support for their breasts. A four inch board will suffice. The little chicks need no roost at all, but as they grow they will try to imitate their elders by trying to fly to a roost, so it would be wise to place a smaller perch in the house for their benefit. This as well as that for the heavy birds should be near the floor, so that neither will be injured in jumping down.

The Stirlings.

When the variable weather is considered the attendance at the meetings of the Stirling literary club on the 6th inst.
at Mrs. Charles Andrews' home, and at the home of Louise Ballard on the 20th inst., evidenced a continuation of the interest shown at earlier meetings.

It is observed that encyclopedias and authorities abridge the meetings of the club, and it is in evidence that the winter passed will prove one of the most profitable in the history of the club, now in its 20th year. A miscellaneous program of chief events of the beginning of the reign of the Tudors brought out well prepared selections by Cassie Hutchins, Mrs. Kate Meserve and Mrs. Abbie Andrews. Mrs. M. A. Hill gave a brief sketch of the rise of Cardinal Wolsey supplemented by a fragment of Shakespeare's Henry VIII. Mrs. Olive Hutchins gave a recitation which was well resong by Louise Ballard and a mandolin and organ duet by Miss Ballard and Mrs.

Hutchins, was much appreciated.

Horace Ballard, at work at the Mill pond rolling logs one day recently, as our informant related, "went in and shut the door after him" and though the situation was a peculiarly dangerous one, being an expert river man he came up and out, wrung out his soaked wearing apparel and resumed his work. Mr.
Ballard may think himself fortunate to come out so easily from 15 feet of water in the close proximity to two water wheels.

Try The Money-back Cure for Indigestion.

Nine times in ten stomach degeneration are responsible for sallow complexion, dull eyes and thin body. It is the stomach that supplies nourishing blood to the muscles, the nerves, and skin. If the stomach is healthy, plenty of nutritious matter will be absorbed by the blood. If it is not healthy, the food will ferment, and undigested, will pass along through the bowels, furnishing so little nutritious matter that the blood becomes impoverished, and the glow of health vanishes.

If you suffer from nervousness, sick headache, belching of gas, sour taste in the mouth, heaviness after eating, or any other miserable stomach disturbance, you need M-C-O-N-A, and the sooner you get it the quicker you will be healthier and happier.

It will relieve any distressed stomach condition almost immediately. It will cure if used according to directions. Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes drug store, sells it for 50 cents a large box, and he thinks enough of it to guarantee it to cure indigestion. 19&21

Wonder if young people married in another state, failing to record their marriage with the clerk of their respective towns of residence, are aware that they are liable to a fine of $20? Likewise, are parents aware that the revised law requires them to make record of the births and deaths of their children within six days of occurrence and that householders are required to make similar reports, the eldest person next of kin to report the death of his kindred? And there are various other requirements.

The first food of the day.

Every man, woman and child begins the day with more or less vigor of mind and strength of body according to the first food supplied to the stomach. The best first dish of the day is a bowl of Quaker Oats. The stomach can assimilate it more quickly and with less effort than other foods. There is little or no waste and every ounce of food is converted into muscle, vigor and brain activity. The strongest people in the world are the regular eaters of Quaker Oats. You should eat it for breakfast every day.

The regular size package of Quaker Oats sells for 10c, the large family size package comes at 25c and 30c.
